Archicad users benefit from new, state-of-the-art Graphisoft Community platform

Graphisoft Community makes it faster and easier for Archicad, BIMcloud, and BIMx users to share solutions and get expert help through a state-of-the-art, engaging user experience

BUDAPEST, September 20, 2021 – Graphisoft, the leading Building Information Modeling (BIM) software solution provider for architecture, today announced the launch of Graphisoft Community, merging Archicad Talk and the English-language Help Center into one, easy-to-search resource. The state-of-the-art platform offers fast, efficient support and search functions, and ensures quick feedback from peer users and Graphisoft experts.

A single sign-in using a Graphisoft ID gives instant access to both Archicad Talk and the English-language Help Center – multi-language support will be rolled out on an ongoing basis. Current users of Archicad Talk are encouraged to migrate their accounts to the new Community portal as quickly as possible to take advantage of the new, streamlined portal – their previous activities and content will move with them. Graphisoft Community also introduces a fresh, engaging approach to knowledge-sharing on the portal through incentives, badges, rankings, challenges, and competitions.

“Graphisoft Community is more than just a rebranding of our existing forums and Help Center,” said Gordana Radonic, Global Community Manager at Graphisoft. “The new portal will make it much easier for Archicad, BIMcloud, and BIMx users to search for solutions to common questions, get quick help from Graphisoft experts, share best practices with peers, and join fun competitions and design challenges,” she added.

“The merge of Archicad Talk and Help Center into one, easy-to-use platform has made the search process so much faster,” said Huseyin Penbeoglu, Architectural Designer at Bimpetus LTD in the UK. “Graphisoft Community helps me stay focused on project deliverables.”

“This was the first full week of the new Graphisoft Community site, and the number of posts is the highest we have ever had – the site is absolutely buzzing with activity!” said Gergely Kmety, Vice President, Customer Success at Graphisoft. “It’s great to see our users taking full advantage of the new portal.”

Building Together Design Challenge – September 6-24

To encourage Archicad users around the world to work on one creative project together, Graphisoft launched the Building Together Design Challenge on September 6. The challenge invites participants to submit their designs using a simple template focused on what the words ‘inside’ and ‘outside’ mean to them.

Participants are invited to encourage their friends and colleagues to vote for their design – and to submit their own. Graphisoft will reveal a giant architectural puzzle made up of the submitted designs on September 24. The 50 designs with the most votes will win prizes. For more information and to enter the design challenge, visit Building Together Design Challenge on the Graphisoft Community portal.
