Graphisoft launches new Archicad Studio subscription plan for solo practitioners

With Archicad Studio, solo practitioners can access a complete end-to-end building design and documentation workflow, collaborate effortlessly with local teams, and impress clients with compelling 3D walkthroughs.

BUDAPEST, March 4, 2025 – Graphisoft, the leading Building Information Modeling (BIM) software solution developer for architecture and multidisciplinary design, today announced the launch of Archicad Studio, a subscription plan powered by Archicad's end-to-end BIM workflow and tailored to solo practitioners working independently or with local teams.

“With AEC technology evolving at such a rapid pace, we want solo practitioners to have access to cutting-edge BIM software innovations as soon as they hit the market,” said Gábor Kovács-Palkó, Senior Director of Product Portfolio Strategy at Graphisoft. “Archicad Studio achieves exactly that – affordable access to Archicad’s powerful BIM workflow at a competitive price point scaled to the solo practitioner’s needs.”

The Archicad Studio subscription plan includes:

- Archicad desktop application on macOS and Windows
- Local Teamwork with BIMcloud Basic - Cloud-based features are available with a paid BIMcloud subscription
- Graphisoft’s cloud-based AI Visualizer
- BIMx mobile app for iOS and Android
- BIMx Pro features
- Archicad extensions, like Python API, PARAM-O, Maxon Redshift, Library Part Maker, and additional Surface Catalog
- Training, support, and services

Archicad Studio supports local Teamwork functions and is available in the user’s local language.
